Mark your Calendar and Plan to Attend the 31st Annual NACE Corrosion Control Seminar Presented at Barton March 27, 28 & 29, 2018.

Barton Community College and the Kansas Section of the National Association of Corrosion Engineers International will hold the 31st Annual Corrosion Control Seminar at the Midwest Utility and Pipeline Training Center and Barton's Technical Building and Science and Math Building on March 27, 28 & 29, 2018.

Barton Coordinator of Workforce Training Projects and Events, Krystall Barnes says the convention is ideal for all industry personnel, regardless of experience level.

The seminar offers workshops on the following topics: basic cathodic protection instruction, field applied pipeline coating types and application techniques and other technical sessions on various corrosion-related topics and problems.
