Certified Medication Aide (CMA)

75 contact hour course that prepares students for the state certification exam. CMA's administer medications to residents in assisted living centers, hospitals, and long term care facilities. A Certified Nurse Aide certification is a requirement for CMA training. Students must be 18 years old for CMA classes.

CMA Update

10 contact hours fit into a two-day framework. This course is a maintenance of your CMA certificate as required every two years by Kansas Aging and Disability Services.

Occupational Outlook and Earnings:

- Excellent job opportunities will arise from a combination of rapid employment growth and the need to replace workers who leave the occupation each year.
- Median hourly earning of nursing aides was $8.57 - $14.41 in 2013. The rest of the aides or designees generally make a higher hourly wage due to advance training.

Note: Individuals interested in the Adult Healthcare offerings must pass a reading requirement prior to admission into the course.
