| Questions/Comments | This would seem to eliminate the ability of the Division to have a supply of RW-DVD's, Flash Drives, and other similar consumables. If it is cheaper for IT to purchase in bulk and distribute then fine, but I don't always plan weeks ahead to know that I will need a RW-DVD or Flash Drive as this policy would seem to indicate. Peter Solie |
| Response(s) | Peter, Good question. With the move to Cloud for many things, and most computers are no longer being built with RWDVD's in them, I don't think it's needed to spell this out for those types of consumables. The issue is that devices less than $200 are being purchased and then we are unaware because those devices need to be installed, or when terminations happen we do not have devices in inventory for HR to collect from employees. If you have a recommendation on how to word it, I would be interested to hear it. Thank you, Michelle |
