"Finally, we wrapped up with the strategic plan. I was very thankful for the information on what is going on and the challenges that we may face in the future. For me, I just want to know what is going on so that I/we can prepare for it. It also feels like it is a time in the college where everyone is very open to innovation and creativity. Where/what is the next big thing?"

"What I found the most interesting was the part I thought I would dread the most…the Strategic Plan. We were asked to try to think about what the next big thing at Barton is going to be now that everyone is doing online courses. It's crazy how many times this weekend I have been asking myself this question and tried brainstorming ideas."
